The Growing Abundance Project - Local Food, No Waste

The Growing Abundance Project is all about local food, from growing it to eating it. Growing Abundance is a not for profit community enterprise based in Castlemaine, Central Victoria.

The Growing Abundance Project is partnering with the Foundation for Rural and Regional Renewal (FRRR) to enable effective fundraising for 4 flagship programs:

- Harvest from registered backyard trees and orchards, sharing produce between volunteers and the community;
- Canteens feeding local school children simple, nutritious local food;
- The Hub Plot a demonstration urban garden; and
- CAKE (Castlemaine Abundance Kitchen Enterprise) a catering, local feasts, preserving and food education project.

We respect how food is grown, the people who grow it, and the people who eat it.
